The payment of these debts is not all the good that has been effected by their present rulers. It is well known that since the innegaristic of the American government of our city a number of important and useful public works have been completed and the control of the has been improved. Fifteen mikes of public streets have been pared. Means for the construction of water-works have been obtained. A number of permanent bridges and culverts have been erected, and the repairing and remodeling of the gray old rain, the court-bouse, familiarly known as "Guthree's folly," have been begun. The trade and commerce of the city have prespered beyond those of almost any of the large cities in the Union, and the week of the city has been sustained, so that it a grand asturnali as the day in better condition than it ever was all these facts prove that since the city govern the art of the hands of the American party it has been administered with an economy and well directed judgment worthy of the highest community of the highes such an administration cannot be injured by the cansure of a man whose influence in the city councils impowed upon the people of Louisville putilic datas to the amount of from a million to a million and and a half of dollars for no useful purpose whatever except his own private benefit.

It has generally been considered alroad that Massachusetts was most largely engaged in cotton and wooleu mansactures, but that is but a smill thing when compared with her leather interestr. Every town in the State has its shoenaking commonity. Many small farmere, on rainy days and in winter, take it ap as a sort of knitting work, and fill out the year by this means.

Parricure — John R. Critish was put in jull yesterday by Deputy Speriof Powell. He was urrested by Mr. Jones, who was white on a rait on which he had come down the river, and who knew hint to be a man who had murdered his father two years ago near frenton, in this Sinte. The prisoner is jutt note than eighteen or nineteen years of age. He confesses the act, and says it was done in a quaried when both he and his father were druin. He says that since the nurder he has known no peace of mind; that he has had no settled home, and could reat nowhere. He would as soon suffer in a pointentary as undergo what he has endered. Like Cain, he has wandered to and fro on the earth, and his junishment was greater than he could bear.
